

Russians Release AMG Man Seized Sunday In Berlin

Berlin, Aug. 23 (AP)—The Russians today released Thomas P. Headen, American military government official, who was seized by Soviet soldiers yesterday in downtown Potsdam Platz.

Headen was brought to the American military police headquarters by U. S. liaison officers who were called by the Russians to pick him up after he had spent the night in Russian detention.

"I'm glad to be back and I certainly don't want to have any part of that any more," Headen told reporters as he passed into the building to be briefed by American officers.

He said the Russians had returned the camera which he had with him when he was seized by Russian soldiers carrying tommyguns.

Negotiations for his release began immediately after his arrest yesterday. During the night, however, officials at the central Soviet headquarters said they had no information on him because he might be held at a lower command post.

At noon Soviet officials said they had Headen and that he could be brought to Soviet headquarters.

Headen is deputy chief of the American military government's information services division.

It was not clear whether Headen stepped into the Russian sector when he left the curb, for boundary lines in the big city square are poorly defined. Some officials said they thought Headen may have stepped into the Russian sector. His wife and children looked on helplessly as the Soviet soldiers grabbed him.

British sector police late yesterday arrested Franz Erdmann, chief of the Soviet-controlled criminal police, as he was watching a boxing match at Olympic stadium. It was not clear whether the arrest was a retaliatory measure for Soviet abductions of Western sector police.

Western sector police officials said the arrest of Erdmann was not intended as a retaliatory measure. They said he would be charged and tried for abduction and "presumption of authority."

He has jailed about 20 Western sector policemen since Berlin's police department was split between eastern and western sectors. Erdmann still calls himself criminal police chief for all Berlin and claims he has a citywide authority.

The U. S. Provost Marshal's office and western sector police reported a quiet night at the American-Soviet sector border following Headen's arrest. American forces continued to patrol the border to prevent renewed incursions by Russians and Soviet-controlled German police.

Berlin, Aug. 23 (AP)—The Russians released today two more U. S. military government officials they had seized in blockaded Berlin and in southern Germany.

Lt. Herman Turner of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Roland Myers of Brooklyn, American military government officers who were seized 18 days ago while on a border inspection. They had crossed into the Russian zone at Melrichstadt, 75 miles from Frankfurt, apparently by mistake. The Russians tried without success to force Turner and Myers to sign a receipt saying they entered the Russian zone of Germany "without authority" and took illegal pictures of the border.

Uh-Huh! Old Hiccup Cure Really Works

Pasadena, Calif., Aug. 23 (AP)—A 69-year-old retired building contractor who has been plagued with hiccups for nearly two years at last has found a remedy that works.

Theodore L. Syvertson had tried all the usual remedies, spent months in hospitals and had consulted some 60 doctors. But he kept on hiccuping at the rate of about 10 per minute.

Late Saturday night Joseph Wollert, Los Angeles, called on him and urged him to try his remedy. It consisted of bending at the waist and drinking water from the far side of a glass.

Syvertson said it had been suggested to him before, but he had turned it down as silly. Wollert insisted.

To please him, Syvertson tried it. Midway through the second glass he straightened up. He was pleased, too. The hiccups had stopped. And they haven't returned since.

Vodka at Breakfast; RAF Pilot Dislikes Soviet-Style Menu

Luebeck, Germany, Aug. 23 (AP)—An RAF pilot who spent a week in the Soviet zone after a forced landing reported today he was well treated by the Russians.

The only thing he didn't like was Russian-style cooking. It disagreed with him. The menu included vodka for breakfast, he said. He didn't care much for the German made Russian cigarettes, either.

Pilot Peter Jordan reported back to his base here early today. He made a forced landing last Monday in a Vampire jet fighter. An RAF spokesman said a fuel shortage was the cause.

His plane, only slightly damaged, was dismantled by a recovery unit over the weekend and brought out of the Soviet zone early this morning.

Spaatz Seeks Guided Atom Bomb Missile

Newport Military Talks Cloaked In Secrecy

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—The nation's top military commanders returned to their desks today after a second closely guarded huddle away from Washington.

As in the case of his March session of the joint chiefs of staff at Key West, Fla., Secretary of Defense Forrestal delayed any immediate word of decisions reached over the weekend at Newport, R. I.

Forrestal and his uniformed aides flew back to Washington late last night, but newsmen were told in advance that no one would have anything to say.

While these top-secret meetings were in progress, however, the air force let it be known that one of the things it would like to have most of all is a guided missile capable of carrying an atom-bomb to a target 5,000 miles away—and faster than the speed of sound.

No Defense For It

Such a weapon was labeled a must in the final report of Gen. Carl Spaatz, who turned over his job as air force chief of staff to Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg several weeks ago.

Spaatz said that since there is no existing defense against a weapon of this type the United States must be the first to develop it. He said it has been a prime objective ever since the guided missiles program was launched. But he gave no hint what, if any, progress has been made.

A means of appraising the capabilities and performance of present and probable weapons was one of the subjects listed for discussion at the Newport session.

Spaatz's report therefore seemed likely to have figured prominently in the talks.

Strategic Bombing

Another almost certain subject was the revived controversy between the Navy and the Air Force over strategic bombing. The key West meeting was supposed to have settled that row in favor of the air force.

But it broke out again bitterly if not loudly a few weeks later when the Navy sold Congress on the idea of a super-carrier capable of handling planes big enough to carry a-bombs.

The air force let it be known it didn't like that idea; that when any more a-bombs are dropped they should fall from air force planes.

Besides Vandenberg, the joint chiefs group is made up of Gen. Omar Bradley, army chief of staff, and Adm. Louis E. Denfeld, chief of naval operations.

Mother, Son Reunite After 40 Long Years

Each Thought The Other Was Deceased

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 23 (AP)—A mother and son who thought each other dead for more than 40 years were rapidly closing the gaps in time today.

Since she arrived in Lincoln Saturday night to greet Roscoe V. Pershall, the son from whom she had been separated for 48 years, Mrs. Lulu Swartzlander, 68, of Long Beach, Calif., has visited the place where he works, toured the city and talked with other relatives in the Midwest.

"It doesn't seem real," said Mrs. Swartzlander when she rushed into the arms of her greying 51-year-old son Saturday night.

Pershall's parents separated when he was a child of three and went to live with his father. Both mother and son thought the other dead.

Through a chance conversation last June with a patient at the Veterans' hospital where he is employed, Pershall got track of an aunt and sought information about his mother's death. He was stunned to learn she was alive.

The reunion was speedily arranged.

ESCAPES IONIA

Ionia, 27, of Mattawan, escaped Sunday from the Ionia State hospital. Committed last May from Kalamazoo as a criminal sexual psychopath, Colvin was working with a dairy barn trusty crew. Hospital authorities said he is not dangerous.

Impetuous Driver Breaks Car Window To Escape Ticket

Kansas City, Aug. 23 (AP)—Patrolman Robert McCarvey stopped a motorist in an old automobile and started to give him a ticket because the car's rear window was cracked and dirty.

A car window that obscures vision carries a $3 fine in Kansas City.

"If I clean that window within two minutes will you leave that ticket on your pad?" the driver asked. McCarvey agreed.

The motorist grabbed a crank and with two quick blows knocked the glass out of the window, then drove away.

U. P. State Fair Breaks All Records

The Upper Peninsula State Fair concluded its most successful program in history Sunday when a large final day crowd passed through the gates to witness the afternoon and evening performances of the Jimmie Lynch Death Dodgers.

Paid attendance on Sunday was 16,863, including both the gate and grandstand totals. Because this figure is for both gates and grandstand, it includes a number of duplications. It was one of the largest days in the history of the fair and helped to establish a new record attendance for the six days of the fair.

10,614 PATRONS

Actual number of persons who paid gate admissions on Sunday at the U. P. State Fair was 10,614, or 851 less than the record attendance set on Thursday, Receipts Sunday, covering gate admissions, parking fees and grandstand admissions were $10,781.86, compared to $7,166.40 for Sunday, Thrill Day, 1947. Actual attendance Sunday, including an estimated 2400 concessionaires, exhibitors, employees, etc. is estimated at about 13,600.

Gross receipts from the gate and grandstand for the week were approximately $39,000, which constitutes a 56 percent increase over 1947, previous record year. Harold P. Lindsay, secretary-manager, reported this morning. Gate and grandstand receipts a year ago totaled about $25,000 for the six days. Receipts from concessions, etc., also exceeded previous records, Lindsay reported, although the final detailed financial report will not be available for several days or so.

Gratifying Results

An overflow crowd attended the WLS National barn dance show, starring Lulabelle and Scotty, Saturday night and an overflow crowd also attended the Lynch thrill show Sunday afternoon. The fair was concluded with the evening performance of the thrill show Sunday night, witnessed by another large crowd.

The attendance and financial results of the U. P. State Fair were especially gratifying in view of reports from many other areas that general economic conditions resulted in sharp reductions in receipts from previous years," Lindsay said this morning.

Lulabelle and Scotty and all the WLS troupers put on a grand show for the fair patrons Saturday. The troupe included the WLS band, Johnny Jones, glib master of ceremonies; the Stenards, xylophone artists; the Apple Blossoms girls trio; and the Meyers Sisters, acrobats.

Presenting all of the thrill events of previous years, plus several new ones, the Jimmie Lynch Death Dodgers, Larry O'Brien, Whitey Reese, Al Gross and Charles Beeler plus the incomparable clown, Percy Rademacher, made thousands of new friends in their Sunday afternoon and evening shows here.

YOUTHFUL DRIVER

Detroit (AP)—Thirteen-year-old Annie Triplett is one of the youngest drivers ever given a reckless driving ticket in Detroit. Police said a car she was driving went out of control, jumped a curb and ran into a house. The car owner also was ticketed.

Shartlesville, Pa., Aug. 23 (AP)—A young mother attempting to enter her home through a cellar window after forgetting her key was strangled to death when her neck was caught between the window sill and frame. Deputy coroner Peter Ricker reported.

State Police Corp. Irvin L. Rothmeyer said Mrs. Gladys Strickler, 22, apparently was crawling into the cellar when the window dropped on the back of her neck, pinning her against the sill.

Dr. John Baer said the young woman apparently hung by the neck for 45 minutes until her body was found by Allert Harlan, a man who was attracted to the scene by the cries of Mrs. Strickler's six-month-old child.

National City, Calif., Aug. 23 (AP)—An attempt by William Williams, 65, to climb through a window when he misplaced his house keys killed him yesterday.

The window fell when he was halfway through and pinned him to the sill. The coroner's report blamed the death on a heart attack—caused by the shock of the falling window.

CHAMPIONS—Maurice Barclay's team of chestnut sorrels of Seymour, Wisconsin set a new record of 3800 pounds in the heavyweight horse pulling contest here Saturday afternoon. The previous record of 3550 pounds also was bettered by a team owned by Mike Dugan, of Cato, Wis., which pulled a 3575 pound load the required distance of 27½ feet.

Pamela Has A 9-1 Chance

Chicago, Aug. 23 (AP)—Six medical experts have decided that malformed Pamela Frances Lamphere has a nine-to-one chance of surviving the prescribed corrective surgery over which her young parents became estranged.

The physicians examined the 22-month-old baby yesterday at the request of Superior Judge Walter R. O'Malley and said that the first of a series of operations should be performed within the next two months.

The child was born with her bladder outside her body.

Judge O'Malley appointed the six specialists to make the examination and recommendations to the court after the child's father, Fred Lamphere, 23, asked the court to order the operation.

The mother, Irene, 21, had first refused to permit the operation. Since the court hearing, however, she has changed her mind. She said she has heard recently of several other similar cases in which surgery was successful.

In her divorce suit, still pending, the woman charged Lamphere, a shipping clerk, with cruelty for insisting upon the operation. She said physicians previously had told her the child had only a 1,000-to-1 chance of surviving the operation.

Although she had believed the baby could not live beyond her fifth birthday in her present condition, she said she preferred having Pamela that long rather than to risk an earlier death.

4 Oregon GOP Men Die in Air Crash

Klamath Falls, Ore., Aug. 23 (AP)—A private plane plunged into a lake yesterday, killing four Oregon Republican leaders.

Two state representatives, a Senate nominee and a state House nominee died in the crash.

It was the second aircraft mishap within a year to take the lives of prominent Oregon state officials.

The bodies of Rep. Earle Johnson, 40, of Corvallis; William H. Fluhrer, 47, Medford, the Senate nominee, and H. H. Evans of Waldport, House nominee, were recovered last night from the plane. Search of the resort lake was continued today for the body of Rep. John Snellstrom, 53, of Eugene.

BY RICHARD TOMPRINS

Amsterdam, the Netherlands, Aug. 23 (AP)—The World Council of Churches formally came into being today, the result of years of effort to give the spiritual guidance of a unified Christian church to the social, economic and political problems of the world.

After 10 years as a provisional body, the council took on its new status when the Archbishop of Canterbury, chairman of the first business session, called some 450 official delegates from 40 countries for the first order of business in Amsterdam's Concertgebouw.

Nowhere else could the birth of the World Council have had a more appropriate setting, than in Holland, a land of tolerance and spiritual freedom where the persecuted and oppressed of all countries have found sanctuary.

Now, for the first time, official representatives of 145 churches are creating "a permanent instrument of fellowship and cooperation on a worldwide scale," said the Rev. Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, General Secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, a speaker at this morning's sessions.

The delegates will be divided into committees to prepare recommendations for discussion and action by the assembly. One committee will take up the council's constitutional basis. A second will deal with matters of policy affecting the council. A third will be concerned with a program and administration of the council. The assembly will continue through Sept. 4.

"We are met at a time of deep confusion and uncertainty when men everywhere are eager for some work which shall shed the light of God's truth upon the present scene," said Cavert.

"Any utterance of the assembly will claim no authority over the churches. Its significance will depend solely upon whatever measures of inherent truth or wisdom it may possess."

The World Council had its inception at conferences at Oxford and Edinburgh in 1936, when a committee of 14 was entrusted with the task of planning the council, submitting the plan to the churches and steering it to fruition. A subsequent conference, at Utrecht in 1938, made the committee of 14 a provisional one.

The delegates were brought together yesterday at services in Amsterdam's 16th century "New Church" Cathedral of Holland. Russia is not represented. The Roman Catholic Church is represented only by "observers" who will take no official part in the proceedings.

Historical Note: Japan Birth Rate High; Deaths Low

Tokyo, Aug. 23 (AP)—Allied headquarters announced today the Japanese birth rate is the highest since 1926 and the death rate is the lowest ever recorded.

In a review of vital statistics headquarters also noted that the marriage rate was the highest on record.

Last year there were 1,562,587 more births than deaths in Japan. Japan's population Oct. 1, 1947, was 78,090,991.

11-Year-Old Polio Patient in Marquette

USSR Sought U. S. Secrets In Industry

Official Says They May Have Been Successful

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—Congressional spy investigators said today Elizabeth T. Bentley is ready to tell how a Soviet spy ring went after America's wartime industrial secrets.

One member of the House Un-American Activities Committee said he fears the Russians may have been highly successful.

Miss Bentley already has given the committee, in secret sessions, a brief peek at what she knows about "espionage in industry," this member said, adding that she evidently knows a lot.

As soon as it can be arranged, he said, public hearings will be held on operations of what the committee regards as a fourth Red spy network in the United States.

Mopping Up Jobs

But first, the committee has several mopping up jobs to finish. These are leftovers from:

1. Testimony of Miss Bentley that she used to be a Communist and of her eventual objectives.

2. Testimony of Whittaker Chambers, an editor of Time magazine, that he, too, used to be a Red and that the Communists operated a pre-war underground in Washington in which Alger Hiss was a leading member. Hiss, former state department official who now heads the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, denies it.

Chambers never has called the underground a spy ring, but he said espionage was a doubtful way of achieving his objectives.

More witnesses are scheduled for secret questioning today and tomorrow, and then Hiss and Chambers are supposed to confront each other in open hearings Wednesday.

In addition to winding up these assorted hearings, Committee Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) has said the committee expects "to bring into full focus the operations of still another espionage ring which secured some of our most vital information."

Chambers—Hiss

He has declined to go into details, other than to say that Miss Bentley will not be involved in any way.

The committee has stirred up some guessing by asking the war department to appoint a liaison officer for this phase of its spy hunt. Nobody will say why at this time.

During the war, the Army had charge of developing the atom bomb.

In closed sessions today and tomorrow, three or four more witnesses were scheduled for questioning on what they know about the relationship between Chambers and Hiss. Their names were not released ahead of time.

Chambers said he was introduced to Hiss by J. Peters, a man he described as head of the Red underground for the entire United States.

He said Hiss knew him, Chambers, by his party name of "Earl." Hiss says he knew Chambers only as a free lance writer named George Crosley, who came to him seeking material for magazine articles. He said he was on the staff of the special Senate Munitions Investigating Committee at the time.

Dixie Senator Says He'll Boost Truman

Born, Bred A Democrat; No Change Now

BY JACK BELL

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) said today he is supporting President Truman in the November election.

McKellar's announcement came in the face of reports from Tennessee that at least two of the state's 12 Democratic elector candidates have made known their intention of voting for the states' rights ticket headed by Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

"I was born and bred a Democrat," McKellar told a reporter. "I always vote for and support the ticket and, of course, I will continue to do so."

The Tennessee senator's statement recalls a recent similar declaration by Senator A. Willis Robertson of Virginia.

Administration Democrats immediately put them together to back their claims that Mr. Truman is making some headway in the South, despite the angry protests which arose there over his civil rights program.

For some years McKellar has been closely linked with the Tennessee Democratic organization headed by Ed Crump. For this reason some party members who still oppose Mr. Truman's election said they see nothing surprising in McKellar's joining Crump in backing the Democratic ticket.

Republicans have had some hope that the defeat of Crump-backed candidates in the Democratic primary might drive enough of a wedge in the Tennessee branch of the party to give them a chance there. Accordingly, they plan to spend time, effort and money in seeing what they can do.

Elsewhere in the South Mr. Truman appears unlikely to get much active support from senatorial Democrats. A lot of the Dixie Senate Democrats are going to sit this one out.

50,000 RETURNED

New York, Aug. 23 (AP)—The remains of 2,000 American War dead—including those of the 50-thousandth soldier to be returned from the European Theatre—arrived yesterday on the Carrell Victory from Antwerp. Memorial services were scheduled today at the Army base in Brooklyn. A total of 74,542 war dead have been py about it."

WOMAN DIES OF INJURIES

Mrs. Geraldine Carlson, Munising, Is Victim

Munising, Mich.—Mrs. Geraldine Carlson, 38, of Munising was fatally injured at 10:30 Saturday evening near AuTrain on M-28 when a car in which she was a passenger was struck head-on by an auto driven by Keith Van Dorn of Munising.

Robert Tonella of Marquette was driving Mrs. Carlson's car, with Mrs. Carlson's mother, Mrs. Claudine White of Lansing as the other passenger. George Paris of Munising was the only passenger in Van Dorn's car.

Tonella was driving on the northside of the highway to Marquette, when the collision occurred.

All were taken to the Munising hospital, where Mrs. Carlson died at 2:15 a. m. Sunday. Mrs. White is still a patient at the hospital, while the others have been dismissed.

Keith Van Dorn is being held at Alger county jail and will be arraigned sometime today.

Mrs. Geraldine Carlson was born May 29, 1910 at Cadillac, Mich. She has lived in Munising for three and half years, coming to that city from East Lansing.

She is survived by her husband, Helmer Carlson; her mother, Mrs. Claudine White of Lansing; one sister, Mrs. Homer Beattm of Lansing.

Mrs. Carlson was formerly employed as the manager of the Lee Style Shop in Munising. The Beaulieu funeral home and funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Joseph Germain, 65, Dies Sunday Morning

Joseph J. Germain, a member of the Wells township board of review, died at 10:45 Sunday in St. Francis hospital of a heart ailment which had afflicted him the past eight years. He was 65 years old, and lived at Escanaba, route one.

Joseph Germain was born Nov. 14, 1883 in Clarence Creek, Ont., Canada, and came to this country 52 years ago. As a young boy he lived in Isabella and later at St. Jacques. He bought a farm in Danforth 43 years ago and has lived there since.

Germain was self employed in timber jobbing at the Bay de Noc company for 12 years, and carried on independent logging operations at Cooks Mill, Collywood, Watersmeet, the Beaver branch and Boney Falls. He jobbed timber for 20 years and operated a grocery store for 28 years.

He was a member of the Holy Name society and the board of trustees of Holy Family church in Flat Rock; a former member of the board of education of Wells township schools and of the Wells township board of review. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m., Wednesday from Holy Family church in Flat Rock with Rev. Fr. Roland Dion officiating. Burial will be made in the family plot in Holy Family cemetery. The body will lie in state at the Allo Funeral home beginning at 7 p. m., Monday.

Surviving are his wife, the former Regina Chouinard, nine children, Edward of Pasadena, Calif., Fred of Danforth, William of Detroit, Mrs. Joseph (Irene) Tourangeau of Detroit, Mrs. Leslie (Elsie) Clearmont of Milwaukee, Hector of Danforth, Mrs. Roy (Beatrice) Holster of Detroit, Mrs. Clarence (Myrtle) Charles of Gladstone, and David of Escanaba; 19 grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Thomas Charland of Oak Park, Ill.

Fifth Wolf of Year Trapped In July

Lansing, (AP)—Predatory animal trappers caught their fifth wolf of the year in July, the State Conservation Department reported.

Also trapped to date were 121 coyotes, 25 bobcats and 341 foxes.

Upper Peninsula trappers accounted for the largest share of the bounty payments—receiving $2,035 of the $2,280 total.

Mary's Little Lamb Wins Blue Ribbon, Is Lost and Found

Ten-year-old Mary Jacke had a little lamb and she showed it at the fair. She won a nice blue ribbon—but lost the lamb there. Then Mary found the lamb again and now she's very happy. She'll use some of the prize money for a birthday gift for Pappy.

Mary is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jacke of Old State Road. The lamb is three months old and white, as any lamb should be who is owned by a girl named Mary.

The blue ribbon and the $10 premium were awarded to Mary for her lamb, whose fleece is white as snow. But where the lamb had gone on Sunday night, poor Mary didn't know.

The lamb was gone from the barn at the fair grounds, and so was the pair from which Mary had fed it each day last week. And gone also was the beautiful blue ribbon. State police were notified. The fair office was notified. The judges were advised that Mary's little lamb was missing.

Later last night when despondent Mary and her parents reached home they found the lamb, the bucket and the ribbon. Kind-hearted and well-meaning neighbors had taken Mary's lamb home for her. Now Mary is happy again—and she's planning to spend some of her prize money for a birthday gift for her father, and a Christmas present for her mother.

Bodies Of 23 U. P. Men Arrive In New York On Army Transports Today

The remains of 33 Upper Michigan war dead arrived in New York today from Europe aboard the Army transports Lawrence Victory and Carroll Victory. The ships returned the bodies of 7,945 Americans who lost their lives during World War II, 291 of whom were from Michigan.

Armed forces dead originally interred in temporary military cemeteries in France and Italy are among those being brought back for re-burial.

Included in the group which arrived at the New York port of embarkation today from France are Staff Sergeant Francis J. Johnson, son of Charles Johnson, 1614 Fifth avenue south, Escanaba; Sgt. Robert D. Klug, at the request of Frank O. Klug, Gladstone; Sgt. Nicholas Chernick, at the request of Nick Chernick, Harris; Pvt. Orlando Cavalleri, at the request of Mrs. Clara Cavalleri, Foster City; Sgt. Clarence Plansky, at the request of John Plansky, Wilson; and Pfc Morton H. Young, at the request of Mrs. Julia Young, Manistique.

Other Upper Michigan war dead being returned on the Lawrence Victory are First Lt. John R. Traige, of Sault Ste. Marie; Staff Sgt. John M. Wesolowski of Ironwood; Pfc John Macurak of Crystal Falls; Pfc George E. Lemire of Menominee; Pfc Waino M. Laitinen of Ishpeming; Pfc Raymond J. Johnson of Iron River; Pfc Eli Kangas of Ontonagon; Second Lt. Daniel L. Fochesato of Caspian; and Staff Sgt. Robert C. Hansen of Stephenson.

Eight Upper Michigan war dead are among the 208 soldier remains being returned from Italy aboard the U. S. Army transport Carroll Victory.

Aboard the transport are Pvt. Eugene J. Gardner, at the request of Alphonse Gardner of Wells; Sgt. Arthur W. Goldberg, at the request of Augusta Stonediff of 1114 North 18th street, Escanaba; Pfc Lenis Hood, at the request of Boston Hood of Newberry; Pvt. Rudolph A. Luoma, at the request of Mrs. Anna E. Luoma of Newberry; Pvt. John M. Valine, at the request of Oscar Valine of Crystal Falls; Pfc John R. Love, at the request of Sydney Love of Iron Mountain; Pvt. Elmer Mongeau, at the request of Elmer Mongeau of Ontonagon; and Cpl. Camille Carle, at the request of Mrs. Minnie Carle of Menominee.

Lomakin Has Passage On Swedish Steamer

Mrs. Kasenkina shows Steady Improvement

New York, Aug. 23 (P)—Jacob M. Lomakin, Soviet consul general ordered expelled by the state department, booked passage on the liner Stockholm about six weeks ago, a Swedish-American line official said today.

The ship is scheduled to sail next Saturday for Gothenburg, Sweden.

Lomakin's recall was demanded last week by the state department which accused him of "improper conduct" in connection with the case of Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina, Soviet school teacher who leaped from the third floor of the Russian Consulate here.

Lomakin, his wife and their two children will occupy a $1,400 suite on the Stockholm, the line official said.

Meanwhile, the injured teacher continued to improve at Roosevelt hospital.

A Successful Fair

THE Upper Peninsula State Fair yesterday concluded its 1948 exposition and the thousands who attended the fair during the six days are almost unanimous in their praise of the event as the best ever held from virtually every standpoint.

The board of managers of the fair, representing all sections of the peninsula, devoted considerable time and effort in producing the 1948 exposition. Their only reward is the appreciation of the patrons. They richly deserve that.

The educational exhibits at the fair, which comprise the most important reason for staging the event, were particularly good this year. The entertainment program was outstanding. But we were especially pleased by the wonderful showing made by the 4-H club members from all sections of the peninsula.

Those who saw the 4-H parade Thursday afternoon felt a glow of satisfaction in the revelation that Upper Peninsula youngsters are doing such a grand job in developing the basis for better living in the future. The cattle that these youngsters are raising are among the finest in the Upper Peninsula. Their program, however, is broad and includes not only dairying but just about every phase of rural living.

The grandstand shows, and auto races, midway rides and concessions help to give the fair color and are a powerful factor in drawing people to the exposition. The real purpose of the fair and the reason why the State of Michigan supports it financially is the opportunity it provides to show the progress of the territory and to encourage better farming, better home life and better health.

Better Than Burning

THE U. S. ARMY will convert, this year and next, about one and one-half million tons of surplus potatoes into 200,000 tons of potato flour, for Army relief feeding in Germany and Japan.

The plan is expected to release about 250,000 tons of coarse grains which would have been needed for bread flour. It will permit diversion of the grain to livestock feed urgently needed in Germany.

Raw potatoes cannot be shipped successfully to foreign countries in the holds of ocean-going vessels. For some reason the tubers cannot stand the trip without quick depreciation. They can be shipped, however, in the form of uncooked potato flour, sacked, and for centuries the German people at least have used potato flour for baking, sausage making, and in other ways.

Pre-cooked potato flour is in increasing use in this country. Having knocked Germany cold, and being today under the necessity of keeping the survivors alive somehow, it seems good judgment on our part to export to the surviving Germans an article of food which they know something about, and which constitutes a surplus here. That's far better than burning or kerosining foodstuffs which can help to keep the breath of life in even our former enemies.

The Meaning Of Air Power

THE GERMANS and the Japanese are among the only peoples in the world who have ever had the full meaning of air power brought home to them, says an article in an eastern magazine. In the last war they learned what it meant to lose control over their own air spaces.

The crack-brained, brutal Yamamoto, and the equally thick-skulled Goering boasted that no Allied plane could ever fly over Tokyo or Berlin. Probably the Allied leaders themselves only dimly perceived, at first, the tremendous change that modern warfare was mothering.

More than 40,000 Germans were killed in the British attacks on Hamburg in July and August, 1943. In the great March, 1945, attack on Tokyo, 125,000 people perished, and 75,000 more were rendered homeless in a single night, by some 3,000 men in only 279 planes.

Three attacks within 15 hours wiped out Dresden and buried perhaps 60,000 in its ruins. These terrifying magnitudes of destruction, says General Carl Spaatz, U. S. A., were brought about by air power with only the conventional high explosive bomb.

The General thinks that the destructive power of the present atomic bomb has been exaggerated by laymen. Yet the fact remains that it injects a multiplier of destruction into the effectiveness of each bomber on the order of hundreds to one. A war which might otherwise last for years may be ended in weeks, perhaps days. Campaigns that would otherwise cost the lives of hundreds of thousands of soldiers and sailors may now be the work of a few hours by a few men. Much that would have been impossible becomes possible with the atomic bomb. One thing is sure, the civilian casualties will be tremendous and terrible.

World War II has left the Germans and the Japs wandering numb and despairing among the rusting wreckage of what were once great industrial systems. In the last war, notwithstanding the stupid folly of German and Jap leaders, we smashed not merely military machines but entire national economies. So far-reaching was the devastation that when the shooting was over we were obliged, in the interest of reviving the minimum conditions of international stability, to start pouring out billions of dollars to restore the productive capacity we had just spent billions to destroy.

A push-button war in the next round can end in the obliteration of both sides, victor and defeated alike. But assuming that we keep our present lead in technical skill and in industrial equipment, we may expect with a fair degree of assurance that another war will find us the victor, even at frightful cost.

But what sort of a victory would it be, and what would be the rewards, if it required the destruction of half the world? The conduct of wars is too serious to be entrusted to generals, let alone politicians. The statesmen of the world must perfect some political formula for replacing wars between nations. Then we will no longer have to maintain the most powerful air force in the world.

Popular Vote

THE proposal to put presidential elections on a popular vote basis, eliminating the electoral college, is not a new one but it is interesting to note that the proposal is gaining favor, even in the South which has long fought for retention of the present system.

Even now it is unlikely that a majority of the people in the South would favor the popular vote plan, but more and more Southerners are beginning to see benefits in a change.

Under our present system it is possible for a presidential candidate to win a larger popular vote than his opponent but still lose the presidency. This is because of the electoral division by states. A man who loses the popular vote in a single state gets no electoral votes at all from that state.

The popular vote system is in keeping with the principle of democracy. A person who votes Republican in the deep South, for instance, knows that his vote is all but worthless because of the preponderant Democratic majorities. Under a popular vote plan, every man's vote would be of value, regardless of where he may cast it.

Other Editorial Comments

COMMUNISTS SPY ALL THE TIME (Milwaukee Journal)

The testimony of the "beautiful blond" spy, who seems to be hardly beautiful or blond, before a Senate committee is chiefly important because it shows once again that the Communist party is an organ of a foreign state. It shows, what everyone should know by now, that American Communists all serve the Soviet Union first and America second—if at all.

Sometimes, according to the testimony, Communist party members stay in the open; sometimes, if it makes them more useful, they "go underground." It served the party best for Elizabeth Bentley to go underground, that is, to conceal her Communist party membership in order better to collect information for the Soviet Union.

Everyone who has ever studied the Communist party policy in this country knows that its members constantly gather information that may be of value to the Soviet Union. This may be anything from personal data on individuals to political and military information.

In the case of Miss Bentley, the former Communist who now aids the FBI and the senate committee, government officials were cultivated to see what odds and ends of valuable information might be secured. The Communist spying goes all the way from this to reporting on the private individual. The casual conversation about communism or the Soviet Union with a person whom one does not know to be a Communist finds its way into the dossier in Moscow if, in the Communists' minds, there seems any reason for it.

All of this is why Communists cannot be considered as ordinary American citizens, merely differing in political views with other Americans. It is why they cannot be trusted in important government posts. And it is why they should not be allowed any position of importance in private employ or labor organizations.

They are serving a foreign—and a hostile—power whose interests they always put above everything American.

POLLUTING LAKE SUPERIOR (Sault Ste. Marie News)

Something definitely should be done about a new kind of pollution of Lake Superior.

During the summers when hundreds of steamers ply the Great Lakes the shoreline of Lake Superior, and other lakes as well, is polluted by grapefruit and orange peels, bottles, cans, light bulbs and crates. Presumably these are discarded from steamers. The expedient way of disposing of such trash is to dump it overboard.

But to the cottage dwellers on the Sault river, Whitefish Bay and Lake Superior such trash washed ashore is offensive. Since the prevailing direction of the wind here and on Superior is northwest, most of the trash is washed ashore on the American side.

We have a big stake in Lake Superior. We are proud of it as the largest body of fresh water in the world. Shippers, too, have a big stake in Lake Superior. They have a wonderfully cheap waterway. They should impose upon their ships rules against such pollution, lest the people's ire bring about federal regulations against the practices.

World Events Analyzed

BY PETER EDSON

Washington. (NEA) — Russian government's hullabaloo over the two Soviet schoolteachers, Kosenkina and "Samarin," who don't want to go home and do want to stay in the United States, is in sharp contrast to U. S. government procedure when American citizens want to denounce their country and go all-out Communist. When Anabelle Bucar, of Clairton, Pa., married a Russian musician in Moscow and last February resigned her job in the U. S. embassy at Moscow, there was no protest from this government. She was allowed to go and do as she pleased.

Russian policy is just the opposite. The Soviet wants to hang on to every last one of its citizens and not let any of them renounce communism. The Russians carry it so far, of course, that they won't even let the wives of some 15 American citizens who married Russian women come to the U. S. The State Department protested to Moscow about this 14 times since the end of the war, and got no action.

PEOPLE IN GLASS HOUSES—

In one respect, the House Un-American Activities Communist spy ring investigation has backfired on Congress. Whittaker Chambers testified that one elite Communist cell met in the home of Henry Hill Collins Jr., and Elizabeth Bentley testified that Charles Kramer had been a member of Victor Perlo's spy ring. Both Collins and Kramer have in past years been employed as staff members for congressional investigating committees. So Congress has now learned how easy it is to get suspects on its own payroll, and that the executive branch of the government has no monopoly on employees said to have sympathies with the Communists.

One of the big "secrets" which spy queen Elizabeth Bentley bragged about having picked up for the Communists during wartime was the date of the D-Day for the U. S.—British invasion of France. But the Harry Hopkins memoirs now being printed serially by Collier's magazine say that in May, 1943, the Russians were officially informed by the U. S. government that D-Day would be in May 1944. So Stalin knew this secret before Miss Bentley found out about it. The way things worked out, there were two postponements and D-Day actually came on June 6, 1944.

Gen. "Wild Bill" Donovan's smart young assistant Duncan Lee, who was named by Miss Bentley as one of the contacts who gave her secret information from the Office of Strategic Services, is now associated with Thomas G. (Tommy the Cork) Corcoran in his Washington law office. But that point was not brought out in the hearings, and Tommy's name was not dragged in for whatever anyone might want to make of it.

"PRIVILEGED" TESTIMONY

Lawyers for some of the more prominent men named by Whittaker Chambers and Miss Bentley as having given information to the Communist spy rings are now studying what grounds they may have for bringing libel or slander suits against the informants. Testimony presented under oath before a congressional investigating committee is considered "privileged." That is, it cannot be used as the basis for a suit, the same as evidence submitted in open court. But the character and reputation of many of those named may have been injured or at least opened to suspicion by the allegations made against them. This may impair their standings, their jobs, or their future. And if any of these people can prove damage to their careers, it is believed that they may have grounds for action.

Biggest sport among government employees is comparing notes on how many of the people named in the spy ring case are known to whatever group may be crowded in a bus, seated around a cafeteria table or loafing at a snack bar. Alger Hiss, Lauchlin Currie and Harry D. White were of course top-rank government officials. Lee Pressman, John Abt and Nathan Witt were pretty generally known to anyone who has had anything to do with labor matters. Frank Coe, William Remington, Nathan Silvermaster, Duncan Lee, Harold Glasser, and possibly one or two others, were important enough to rate private offices. All the rest of the 25 people whose names have been dragged through the mire were relatively unknown, the little people of government civil service employment that fell outside their own offices ever heard of. But they're famous now.

The best thing in the world to hide old clothes behind is a pleasant smile.

Take My Word For It

WORDS TO WATCH

The word tantamount means "equivalent; equal." As "Republicans believe the nomination of Governor Dewey is tantamount to his election as president." At best, tantamount is a harsh and awkward word, especially when it is mispronounced so as to rhyme with "catamount." If you must use the word, be sure to pronounce the first "n." Say: TEN-tuh-mount.

The word travail was borrowed from the French. Its English meaning is "toil; torment; severe agony." The pronunciation "truh-VAIL" is frequently heard and seems to be making headway. But the authorities prefer the first-syllable accent, as: TRAV-ail; or: TRAV-ull, exactly as the word travel is pronounced. However, I do not recall ever having heard travail pronounced like travel. My recommendation is: TRAV-ail; or: truh-VAIL.

Watch the word initiative. Careful speakers will want to avoid the telescoped pronunciation "in-ISH-uh-tiv." Best usage is in-ISH-ee-AY-tiv. Also, but not preferred, in-ISH-ee-uh-tiv.

Heard in a newscast: "He was fatally injured in the MEE-lee." The word used is "melee," fracas; confused fight." Melee is a French loan word. The approved English pronunciation is: MAY-lay; or: may-LAY.

OUT OF THE PAST—I thought you might be interested," said Conrad Lustick of Trenary, handing us a postcard. Although his home is in Trenary, Conrad is employed as a welder at the Harnischfeger plant in Escanaba.

The postcard had a picture of Kitch-i-iki (the Big Spring near Manistique) on its face, and a penciled message on the correspondence side. But the Big Spring somehow didn't look as it does today, or perhaps it was the people. For on a small raft in the center of the spring were two ladies and two gentlemen. The ladies wore the long look in a day when it was not considered "new", and the men wore those skimpy pants that called for button shoes.

You see, the postcard was mailed from Manistique in 1911 to the late Lewis L. Trenary by a writer who signed off with "Best regards, H. H." Conrad Lustick found the card in the Lewis Trenary house, which he purchased in 1943 a short time before Mr. Trenary's death.

NOT ALL WINNINGS—Livestock owners who exhibit at the U. P. State Fair will tell you that no matter how you look at it you lose money whether or not you win. Reason? There are costs in the feeding and grooming of animals for their exhibition, there is the cost of transportation, and the time taken from farm work.

Not counting my own labor I figure I'm out $175 in dollar and cents by exhibiting at the fair," said one dairyman who had copied a number of top awards. He and the other farmers who show at the fair, however, admit they receive compensation in a better understanding of animals, their care, and their judging for type. There is also the entertainment and the enjoyment of competition that makes exhibiting a game of skill.

BEAR FACTS—Persons using state forests for camping and picnic grounds have a habit of throwing refuse into the stove, rather than depositing it in the garbage cans where it belongs.

This has created a new maintenance problem, says Don Zettler of Marquette, regional supervisor of forestry for the conservation department. The maintenance comes into the picture because workmen must repair the stoves—which are being torn apart by bears intent on getting at the garbage.

Perhaps the problem could best be solved by encouraging the bears to police the grounds. This would leave the food in the picnic baskets, the picnicers all up in the trees, and there would be no garbage in the stove or anywhere else.

QUESTION MARK—There were many persons who wondered why Miss Straits of Mackinac (Miss Alice West of Marquette) was not among the contenders for the title of U. P. State Fair Queen at Escanaba last week. Miss West was chosen queen of the Straits in the most recent queen event in the Upper Peninsula, and would have been a strong contender for the title of U. P. State Fair Queen.

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—At a ceremony which took place Monday morning at St. Joseph's parsonage, Miss Helen Sensiba, of Pensacola, Fla., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Sensiba of that city, became the bride of Leonard Winling, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Winling of Escanaba.

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Bowers and children are vacationing with Rev. and Mrs. Ross Stokes, sr., and Ross jr., at their summer camp in Alanson, Mich.

Gladstone—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cowen and family left yesterday on a motor trip through points in lower Michigan.

Manistique—Miss Nina Mattson returned yesterday from Big Bay camp near Marquette, where she has been an instructor for the past six weeks.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba—Mrs. G. C. Maigetter and children, Elizabeth and Robert, have returned from a three weeks' visit in Dubuque, Iowa, Kewaunee and Rockford, Ill.

Escanaba—A romance which had its inception during college days was culminated Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at a nuptial high mass in St. Patrick's church when Miss Beatrice Elizabeth Boyce, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Boyce, 1401 First avenue south, and Victor Francis Lemmer, son of Mrs. Margaret Lemmer, 309 South Seventh street, were united in marriage by the Rev. Dr. Michael A. Mulcaire, vice president of Notre Dame university, Notre Dame, Ind.

department, and her entry in the U. P. Fair Queen contest would have been only a matter of courtesy on the part of her sponsors. Other sponsoring agencies did it for their queens graciously and without hesitation. Both Miss West and her friends have reason to feel disappointment that the agencies she assisted in boosting their festival at the Straits did not reciprocate a week later by entering her in the U. P. State Fair contest.

DEMONSTRATOR—One of the most amazing gadgets demonstrated at the U. P. State Fair last week was the liquidizer. The demonstrators were handled by a young man from Detroit, Verne Wentzel, regional sales manager for the company manufacturing liquidizers and other appliances for the kitchen.

The liquidizer is equipped with small knives that rotate at high speed in the bottom of a glass container. These knives cut, beat, whip, grind—well, they will do just about anything a shredder, grater, mixer or grinder does. We watched Wentzel put peanuts, carrots, potatoes, peas, weiners, coffee bean, spinach, and all, oranges (with and without rind) and other foodstuffs through the liquidizer. He concocted orange and milk drinks and then passed them out to his audience for sampling. The orange drink was good, but we shied at trying the one with milk, banana, spinach.

"Time out," said Wentzel when we caught up to him between demonstrations. He wiped the sweat from his brow. "They really are work, and you have to make the whole thing look easy—which it is. The idea of the liquidizer was discovered about 15 years ago but it's going to take a lot of pioneering to make women want them. You remember how women were slow to take to the electric mixer? We figure the demand on the liquidizer, once starts selling, will triple the mixer market."

Roving Reporter

By Hal Boyle

Washington (AP)—How would you like to submit to a lie detector?

I've been asking that question around the office ever since the House un-American activities committee brought the whole thing up.

The committeemen, you will recall, suggested that Alger Hiss and Whittaker Chambers, who had told conflicting stories, might like to tell them over again. And this time a polygraph, or lie detecting machine, would be eavesdropping.

There probably is as large a supply of truth stacked around a newspaper office as anywhere else. Yet the usual reply has been, "no, thanks. I don't believe I'd care for any."

The little lady who shares the office phone with me even said: "Good heavens, I've always considered that an infernal machine. You know, first they strap you in that—and then in the electric chair."

In an effort to find out the truth about the truth-finder, I borrowed a brief case and a student air from a friend I know who once read a book.

Disguised as a scholar, I had no trouble at all sneaking into the Library of Congress.

Well, it turns out the lie detector is a pretty interesting gadget at that.

The popular conception seems to be that it works like this:

The witness tosses a bunch of statements into a hopper, and the machine sorts them and hands them back stamped, "true," "partly true" or "who do you think you're kidding?"

Actually, it's merely a device to measure how a person is breathing, his blood pressure and the like. When a person is lying, there is apt to be a pronounced change in his reactions. These are easy for the expert to spot.

But even the experts don't claim it never misses.

Writes Paul V. Trovillo in the "Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology":

"Lie detectors are not infallible—neither the operator nor the investigators should expect too much of the instrument."

And John E. Reid, writing in the same publication, says that one-fifth of all tests made produce results too inconclusive for an examiner to make a report.

Reid, the sly fellow, set out deliberately to fool the machine. By faking his emotional responses, acting excited when he wasn't, he did it, too. Said the machine's graphs: "He looks guilty."

But don't be too alarmed, the police use it as much to weed out the innocent as to put the finger on the guilty. And in some cases, of course, the results have been phenomenal.

Trovillo, by the way, points out some drawbacks to the detectors. They don't work too well on chronic criminals whose emotions have become calloused.

Nor on drunks. Nor on people who are insane.

And if you really want to hide your emotions, take this tip from Trovillo:

Eat heartily. It seems the machine doesn't work worth a whoop on anyone who is excessively fat.

This (refusal to run for the Presidency) implies no intention of maintaining silence on any issue of importance to the country on which I may feel qualified to express an opinion.—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's Note — While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen.)

Washington. — The two Titans of the mighty AFL Teamsters Union are squaring off for a roaring showdown.

They are Dan Tobin, 72-year-old long-time national president, and Dave Beck, tough, fancy-dressing and ambitious West Coast "czar."

Basis of the seething feud is Beck's chafing yen for Tobin's job. Beck thought he had it all set to become No. 1 teamster at last year's convention. He was wrong. But he displayed so much strength that Tobin decided it would be smart to throw his younger rival a sop.

Tobin had the teamster constitution amended empowering him to appoint an "executive vice president" from among the nine elected vice presidents. This new official was to be the direct assistant to the president. Beck got the job, although he is not senior vice president.

The appointment was accepted throughout the union as formal acknowledgment that Beck was Tobin's "heir apparent."

But Beck, apparently, wasn't satisfied. The burly Seattle laborite didn't want to wait until Tobin stepped out. Restlessly ambitious, Beck decided to build a labor empire of his own.

That is where he overreached himself. Eire-born Tobin has reared back and declared open war on Beck.

UNION GRABBER

Beck's empire-building has been bold—to put it mildly. It has included a bit of strike-busting against another union.

Since last April, 12,000 machinists have been on strike at the huge Boeing bomber plant in Seattle. The strikers are members of the International Machinists association, an independent union long on good terms with the teamsters. During a teamsters' strike in Hartford, Conn., the machinists contributed thousands of dollars and did picket duty.

Notwithstanding this, in May, Beck sent his teamsters through the Boeing picket line, and the following month began organizing Boeing mechanics. Beck claimed jurisdiction over half the plant's employees.

The outraged machinists yelled bloody murder. With Tobin's hearty approval, Harvey Brown, head of the machinists, wrote to every West Coast teamster local denouncing Beck and asking their support for the strike.

The Washington State Federation of Labor also took a husky slam at Beck. It adopted a resolution condemning strike-breaking and union-grabbing. The Everett, Wash., AFL Metal Trades Council went further. Charging Beck with recruiting high school students as Boeing strike-breakers, the council sent a resolution to Gov. Mon Wallgren demanding Beck be fired as a regent of the state university.

Last week, the AFL International Clerks went right into Beck's own backluck and slugged him.

For years, Beck has bossed five Seattle retail unions. They were part of his private labor barony, consisting of brewers, chicken cleaners, canners, and various processors.

Again with Tobin's blessing, Cecil Dunlap, a top official of the clerks, went to Seattle and took over four of Beck's retail locals. Dunlap impounded their funds and fired their business agents—all Beck appointees. None of the locals had ever elected officials; Beck always appointed them. Also, of the $2.50 dues the members paid, only 35 cents went to the international union. Beck got the rest.

OPEN WAR

Up to this point, Tobin had done all his countering indirectly through others. But in the latest issue of his official mouthpiece, the International Teamster, he squared off himself.

Tobin served blunt notice that he is boss and intends to remain so. He also laid the ground for firing Beck as executive vice president.

"The executive vice president," Tobin declared, "is a new officer created to be helpful to the general president in every way possible. The executive vice president is appointed for no special length of time and can be removed at any time if his services and actions are not satisfactory to the general president. It would be entirely impracticable to have anyone as executive vice president who did not carry out the policies and work in harmony with the general president either now or in the future."

The next move is up to Beck. Insiders are predicting it will be in the political field. Beck is an old friend of Gov. Earl Warren, G. O. P. vice-presidential candidate. Tobin is a lifelong Democrat; headed the Roosevelt labor campaign committee in all the late president's campaigns. But Tobin has been cool to Truman.

It's still in the works what will happen between the two teamster Titans.

RANK CONSCIOUS

One phase of the "air rescue" demonstration at the opening ceremonies of New York's giant Idlewild airport turned out to be more realistic than the spectators realized. An L-5 Cub plane, piloted by an NCO, actually crashed.

The Air Force surgeon who parachuted to the rescue administered genuine first aid to the unconscious pilot and rushed him to a hospital. He was still unconscious when he arrived.

The attendants had difficulty ascertaining the pilot's identity. Finally, an officer hurried in and told them, "He is Sergeant James A. Trehearne jr., of Indiana."

At this, the pilot raised his head and murmured, "Not sergeant, sir, staff sergeant."

Rotary Club Hears John Groop Talk On Rehabilitation

John Groop of Escanaba, field agent for the state's vocational rehabilitation program, today talked to the Escanaba Rotary club at its noon meeting in the Delta hotel, describing the economic and humanitarian benefits of the rehabilitation effort.

All disabled citizens of Michigan, both men and women, are eligible for vocational rehabilitation if the disability is a vocational handicap. Groop explained. This includes the hard of hearing, partially blind, cardiac, epileptic, diabetic, crippled, tubercular and the mentally disabled.

The services rendered are on an individual basis to meet the needs of that individual. Some may need counseling testing or job placement; others may require help in vocational training. Many need surgical and medical care, or the fitting with an artificial appliance so they may again become employable. In addition there are special services where they are required.

Altogether last year about 18,000 persons received vocational rehabilitation assistance—although the total number of handicapped persons in Michigan is estimated at 60,000. This means, Groop explained, that many persons are not yet familiar with the vocational rehabilitation program and the services it offers the disabled and handicapped.

After the period of rehabilitation training the person is often assisted in finding employment, or he may be established in a small business. In this way they not only attain the status of self-support but are removed from the direct relief classification.

Herbert A. Smith Dies In Menominee

Herbert Alfred Smith, 19, a former resident of Escanaba, died at 9:30 a. m. today in St. Joseph's hospital, Menominee, following a brief illness. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hal J. Smith of 1901, Wabash avenue, Menominee.

Born April 19, 1928 in Escanaba, he attended the parochial schools in this city and with his parents moved to Menominee one and one-half years ago. There he was employed as an orderly in St. Joseph's hospital and recently has been in Chicago studying voice.

Besides his parents he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. LaVerne Osomon of Escanaba, Miss Sue Smith at Menominee; three brothers, Stanley, Hal Jr. and William James at Menominee.

He was a member of Epiphany church in Menominee and the Catholic Youth Organization in Escanaba.

The body is at the Kell funeral home in Menominee where funeral services will be held at 8:45 a. m. Thursday, with the funeral mass in Epiphany church at 9 a. m. with the Rev. Father Joseph Schaul officiating.

Burial will be in Riverside cemetery, Menominee.

Detroit Man Heads State Legionnaires

Midwinter Meet To Be Held In Lansing

Grand Rapids, Aug. 23 (P)—Robert G. Mathieson, 49, of Detroit, took over today as commander of the Michigan American Legion, succeeding Arthur H. Clarke, of South Haven.

The new department head, for many years assistant register of the Wayne county probate court juvenile division, was elected at the close of the 30th annual Legion convention here Sunday.

He was the first commander in the past 20 years to be chosen without opposition.

Mathieson said the Legion's program this year would include continued emphasis on "housing, child welfare, service to disabled vets, unity of action with other veterans groups, a strong national defense program and a drive against subversive activities."

The Legion auxiliary, meeting simultaneously, elected Mrs. George Shepherd, of Detroit, as president to succeed Mrs. George J. Miller, of Menominee, who automatically becomes National committeewoman.

Lansing was chosen for the midwinter meeting of the Legion at which the 1949 convention site will be named. Observers said Detroit would probably get the convention. Date for the Lansing meeting will be set later.

HARNISCHFEGER JOB IS STARTED

Carloads Of Steel Are Being Unloaded

Construction work has been started by the Austin company of Cleveland on the new industrial building for the Harnischfeger corporation, west of the U. P. State Fairgrounds, Baxter Mitchell, superintendent of Harnischfeger, said at the meeting of the Kiwanis club today.

The building, which will have about 45,000 square feet of floor space, is scheduled for completion by Dec. 1. Manufacture of truck cranes and sugar cane loaders will start after the first of the year.

About a dozen carloads of structural steel already have arrived at the building site. Mr. Mitchell said that, except for a few key men the Austin company will use local labor on the construction project.

A 51,000 pound truck crane, which is a part of the line produced by Harnischfeger, is being used to unload the structural steel. The largest truck crane made by Harnischfeger, weighs 56,000 pounds.

HAY FEVERITES COMING TO U. P.

Conditions Are Ideal In Peninsula

With ragweed in areas farther south beginning to shed its pollen, the annual trek of hay fever victims to Upper Michigan got underway this week.

Proprietors of resorts and Chamber of Commerce secretaries in larger communities report persons susceptible to the pollen once again are finding instant relief when they reach the Upper Peninsula. In fact, because growth of the small amount of ragweed found in this area has been retarded by below-normal temperatures, none of the visitors has experienced any discomfort to date.

Stations at Marquette and other Peninsula cities where daily counts of ragweed pollen in the air are made and sent to the state health department say there has been practically no pollen record within the last two weeks.

"This condition, while general throughout the Peninsula, is especially true for Sault Ste. Marie, Grand Marais, Munising, Marquette, the Copper Country and in other cities and towns along Lake Superior," U.P. Development Bureau officials said.

"This area is practically free from ragweed, goldenrod and other pollen producing plants. Where those plants are found, local health departments are waging successful battles to keep them under control.

"There may be one or two days when winds from the south will blow pollen into the area, but prevailing north and northwest winds—sweeping across Lake Superior plus limited agricultural areas and our climatic conditions continue to keep the Upper peninsula in the forefront as a haven for hay fever sufferers."

Persons living in Chicago and Detroit areas who are allergic to the pollen of ragweed have a very limited selection of places where the atmospheric contamination is low enough for almost complete protection. Besides the Upper

Taper New Togs
To Slim FigureBY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Dare to taper out the too-ample fullness in "new look" clothes, if you think that slimmer lines would yield you more figure flattery.

Plenty of women, particularly those with mature figures, are taking liberties with The Look and with good results. The results are usually a more modified flare of skirt when excess fullness has been cut out at the side and back seams. Sometimes excessive fullness is also taken out of the pep-pleum of a dress or jacket.

Another liberty you can take with The Look, if you miss the shoulder padding which has been taken out of your particular dress or suit, is to put it back in. Big chunky pads, of course, are to be avoided, because their use can make your new dress look outmoded. But a discreet bit of padding used to give too-sloping shoulders a needed "lift" is entirely in order. If used with discretion, pads are not apt to throw a garment out of kilter.

Social Situations

SITUATION: You are invited to a party in honor of an out-of-town guest and you find yourself disagreeing violently with some of his opinions and ideas.

WRONG WAY: Challenge his statements.

RIGHT WAY: Don't get into an argument with the guest of honor, since it would probably upset your hostess.

Spike-Horn Meyers
Says Open Season
On Bears Is Crazy

Harrison, Michigan. (AP)—John E. (Spike Horn) Meyers, a bear lover of long standing, can see no reason why Michigan should declare open season on his favorite animals.

Several Upper Peninsula members of the American Legion proposed such a move Thursday at the Legion convention in Grand Rapids. Early this summer a small girl was killed by a bear near Sault Ste. Marie.

"They're crazy," snorted Spike-horn. "Might as well take cars off the roads—they kill people."

The elderly recluse, now 78, admitted he had some financial interest in promoting a kindly feeling toward bears. He said he makes about $1,500 a month from the wild animal exhibits at his establishment near here.

Tax On Newspapers
Dropped In Miami

Miami, Fla. (AP)—The Miami city commission voted a 1 percent gross receipts tax on daily newspapers published here and rescinded the action five hours later when a commissioner changed his vote.

The commission voted 3 to 2 for final passage of an ordinance levying the tax on daily newspapers and other daily publications printed in Miami.

Commissioners R. C. Gardner, William W. Charles and H. Leslie Quigg voted for the tax. Mayor Robert L. Floyd and Commissioner Perrine Palmer, Jr., voted "no." As the commission was about to adjourn late in the day, Gardner announced:

"I am withdrawing my vote on the newspaper tax to 'no.' I think it is a mistake.

Do Not Force

It's hard to resist coaxing junior and trying to get him to walk earlier than the neighbor's child.

But anxious mothers and fathers were advised today by Mrs. Lennah Backus, Michigan State college child development specialist, to relax and let the child take his own time.

Around the end of the first year a child is strong enough to walk. When his body is ready he will start to walk all of his own accord. There's nothing you can do to speed it up! Better let him set the time and that time may have no relation to when brother or sister or the neighbors' children started to walk.

Once he has his feet firmly on the ground, the right toys may make walking even more fun. Push toys give a beginning walker something to lean against—a little extra support. Of course many of these toys that help walking make a noise—the engine has a bell, the lawn mower rattles, the wagon squeaks. There is a good reason why some toys are made this way. Children love noise, all kinds of noise. It's up to the parents to learn to take the noise because it seems to give children a sense of power and thus helps them to walk.

Exploring Natural
When your child does begin to walk he will explore everything, and you will want him to. Remove things for a time that are apt to keep you saying "Don't touch." At the same time see that your child has lots of things of his own that he can touch and bang and pile and lug.

It isn't necessary to let children do everything, neither is the solution to say, "no" all the time. Relax and let your child relax. Youngsters grow best when they are with adults who are at ease.

Hedberg-Miller

A Marquette wedding of interest here is that of Mary Christina Hedberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilmer B. Hedberg, and William George Miller, son of Mrs. Clara Miller which took place Thursday morning, August 19, in the parlor of the First Presbyterian church, Rev. Homer D. Mitchell officiating.

Bouquets of white gladioli and asters decorated the room for the service.

Attendants were Sally Richardson and Jack Miller, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a two place pink gabardine dress, gold accessories, and a corsage of white roses. Her attendants wore aqua and yellow roses formed her corsage.

A wedding breakfast at the Rancho followed the ceremony. The couple left following the reception on a honeymoon trip to Green Bay, Milwaukee and Chicago.

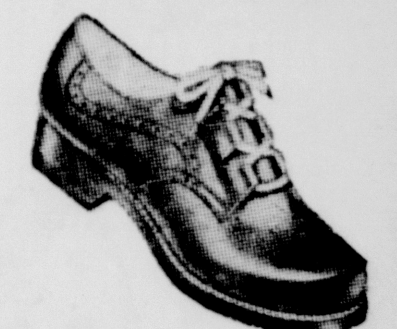

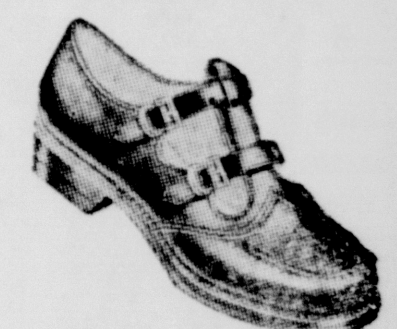

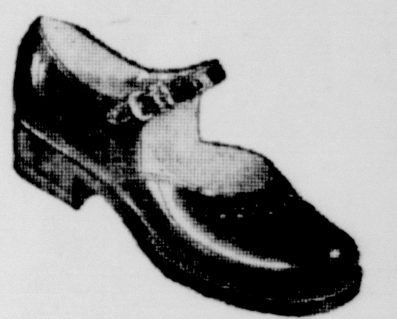

The bride, who has been teaching in Escanaba for the past two and a half years, is a graduate of Northern Michigan College of Education where she was a member of Delta Sigma Nu. Her husband, who is a graduate of Graceland high school, served three years in the Army and now is attending Michigan College of Mining and Technology, at Houghton.

DRAFT SIGNINGDates Set According To Registrant's Age

Registration of men eligible for the draft in Schoolcraft county will be made between August 30 and Sept. 19 with those of certain ages required to register at certain dates, according to A. F. Hall, chairman of the reactivated draft board.

At a meeting held Wednesday the board was reorganized for active duty with Mr. Hall at its head, R. L. Prime, vice chairman; Thomas Wilson, secretary and Mrs. Ray Besner, clerk. All served on the wartime board.

The chairman states that the official place for registration will be the dental clinic in the Junior High school and that offices will be maintained there until Dec. 1 but may have to be moved until after that time because of a conflict with the dental program.

The Inland Lumber & Stone company, Michigan Dimension Company and the Manistique Pulp & Paper Company are providing special registrars and will register their employees in their respective plants.

The regulations require that the registration be done by volunteer help and Mrs. Besner, clerk of the board will be pleased to have volunteers sign up for one or more of the days indicated in the registration schedule. The registration office will be open between the hours of 8 a. m. and 5 p. m.

The registration schedule:
August 30—Men born in 1922 after August 30 on that year.

Aug. 31-Sept. 1—Men born in 1923.

Sept. 2-3—Men born in 1924.

Sept. 4-7—Men born in 1925.

Sept. 8-9—Men born in 1926.

Sept. 10-11—Men born in 1927.

Sept. 12-14—Men born in 1928.

Sept. 15-16—Men born in 1929.

Sept. 17-18—Men born in 1930.

Before Sept. 19, 1930.

Continuing registration—Men reaching 18 years of age must register within five days of their birthday.

Not Buying Cones

The forestry division of the Michigan Department of Conservation in Manistique announces that until further notice it will not be in a position to buy pine or spruce cones.

Carl Makel, forester states, however, that the U. S. Forestry office in Manistique is still in the market for certain kinds of cones and that there is also a private market for them.

BAND CONCERT
TUESDAY NIGHTWill Be Held At High School Stadium

The Manistique Municipal Band plays its final popular concert of the season Tuesday evening.

In order that people may enjoy this concert to the fullest extent, the high school stadium has been engaged for the evening. The flood lights will be turned on to help make the occasion all the more enjoyable.

No definite program has been announced as yet by Ferdinand Gorsche, director. He revealed, however, that the program will be replete with numbers which the public approved of the most heartily during the season.

There will be no admission charge, but a free will offering taken up. The primary purpose of this collection will be to pay for the use of the lights. However, a generous contribution to pay for added instruments and music will be greatly appreciated.

The concert begins at 8:00 o'clock. Members of the band are requested to meet at the old gymnasium at seven o'clock.

The band personnel is:
Director—Ferdinand Gorsche.

Cornets and Trumpets—Lawrence Gorsche, William Raredon, Richard Abrahamson, Francis Kason, Lauritz Hough, Herbert Peterson, Charles Lundstrom, and Van Mueller.

Clarinets—Norman Martin, Arthur Fountain, Jr., Leroy Fox, Leo Curran, Steve Barko and William Prine.

Saxes—Russell Brunet, Peter P. Gorsche, Clarence Peterson, Kenneth Billings, Bud McDonald, Dick Hoppins and Ralph Williams.

Horns—Don McPhail and Tom Anderson.

Trombones—A. Pete Gorsche, Ross Collier, John Heinz, Ray Norberg and William Eck.

Basses—Lawrence Strassler, Jay Parker and Dan Giovannini.

Drummers—Robert Orr, Clinton Leonard, Tom Ross and Joseph Brunet.

RITES PLANNEDBody Now On Way From Italy For Reburial

The remains of Millard Hutchinson, 19, son of Mrs. Minnie Hutchinson, are on their way from Italy for reburial in Manistique.

Private Hutchinson was killed in action while serving with the U. S. armed forces on June 2, 1944.

Information regarding shipment of his body was first received by his mother early in July and definite information that it was on its way came this week.

Military honors will be accorded him at services held here, but definite plans are still incomplete.

Besides his mother, Millard is survived by four brothers, Ralph, Clarence, Alfred and Dewey, and two sisters, Mrs. Leona Aldrich and Mrs. V. Miller.

War Department

Gold star buttons, for presentation to the mother or nearest kin to any member of the U. S. Armed forces who lost their lives between June 27, 1941 and July 25, 1947 are available for those who make application for them to the Adjutant General's office of the War Department, John Grimley, adjutant of the Manistique post of the American Legion states.

To simplify the matter of making application, those who are eligible for these buttons, may call at the Tourist Information office across the street from the post office, where Lars Olson, in charge, has the necessary application blanks and will assist in filling them out.

Other members of the family of the deceased are also eligible for these buttons but are required to pay for them at a cost approximating $1.50.

The gold star button consists of a gold star on a purple circular background, bordered in gold and surrounded by gold laurel leaves.

On the reverse is the inscription "United States of America, Act of Congress, 1947" with space for engraving the initials of the recipient.

Accompanying this will be an accolade bearing the name of the veteran and acknowledgment of his sacrifice with a facsimile signature of the president.

FIVE AUTOS
IN ACCIDENTSTwo Men Hospitalized
When Car Hits Tree

Fog contributed to two accidents involving four autos at the junction of US 2 and 41 near Rapid River early Sunday morning. None was injured.

However, in another accident near Stonington early Sunday morning two were injured sufficiently to need hospitalization.

In the jamboree at the Rapid River junction, an auto driven by Richard Sly of Gladstone traveling south went through the guard rail at 2 a. m., and Carl Ravi, Detroit, who was following him also went through the rail and struck Sly's auto.

Ten minutes later, Richard Rasmussen, Gladstone, came on the scene and stopped to see if he could render any assistance. He was followed by Floyd Ouellette, Ypsilanti, who attempted to stop but skidded and smashed into the Rasmussen auto.

In the third accident, an auto driven by Eugene Ecklund, Stonington, ran off of County road 513 at 3:15 a. m. Sunday and struck a tree. Ecklund sustained a fractured leg, broken jaw and numerous contusions. John Sloan, Escanaba, a passenger in the auto had a severe head cut and other bruises and lacerations. Both were treated by a local physician and taken to St. Francis hospital.

Officers said there was no indication that Ecklund had applied brakes in an effort to stop and they are of the opinion that he fell asleep at the wheel.
